A VICTORY WE BELIEVE IN YOURS!

7th ANNUAL VICTORIOUS WOMAN CONTEST

What's YOUR Victory? Have you... triumphed over a seemingly overwhelming obstacle...survived abuse...broken through a glass ceiling...beaten cancer, addiction or other disease... successfully built a small business...navigated a difficult separation and transition... "and positively changed your life?"

The Victorious Woman Project wants to know about your victory!

May is International Victorious Woman Month. The Victorious Woman Project™ is celebrating by asking you to share your story with other women. We think YOUR STORY OF VICTORY can encourage other women to believe in themselves and their ability to find their own victory through any difficulty. Is this the time to tell your story? Share your experience with others who may be going through a similar difficulty. You will inspire and encourage them to victory, by making a positive difference in the world AND we get to give you the "atta girl" you earned!

Contest opens on March 26th
Entries are due by May 3, 2014
